

JASS

Strengthening and sustaining
women's organizing power

Generating and Sharing KNOWLEDGE

JASS publications and materials are the product of lively collective analysis, action research, and reflection and learning in the thick of social justice work around the world. By sharing fresh insights, tools and concepts, JASS builds bridges between theory and practice, researchers and practitioners, to sharpen knowledge and action.

Women Navigate Power

Activists reflect on experiences across a fascinating range of movements and Campaigns: from staging The Vagina Monologues in Uganda to the sex-workers' movement in Kolkata; from women-headed households in Indonesia to rural Brazilian women's fight for forests and livelihoods. Each story situates specific strategies within the bigger political picture, reaching beyond the orthodoxies of organizing to raise key questions and contradictions. Developed by ActionAid International and JASS through a unique 'writeshop' process, the collection is a rich resource for organizers everywhere.

Making Change Happen 1: Advocacy and Citizen Participation

The first in JASS' occasional series of short, lively papers analyzes the emerging political context for social change work around the world.

Making Change Happen 2: Citizen Engagement and Global Economic Power

This paper sparks debate on the practice and challenges of global economic justice work and explores the role of civil society participation in global economic policy processes such as the World Trade Organization.

Making Change Happen 3: Concepts for Revisioning Power for Justice, Equality and Peace

A fundamental text in JASS' work, this accessible booklet tackles the complexities and opportunities for understanding, constructing and transforming power. (Published in Spanish and English.)

JASS Digital

A host of JASS publications, tools, videos, blogs, and other multi-media resources are available online in English and Spanish. The homepage links to numerous YouTube videos, our Facebook pages, the JASS blog and quarterly newsletters, and La Boletina Petatera.

A New Weave of Power, People & Politics: The Action Guide for Advocacy and Citizen Participation

by Lisa VeneKlasen with Valerie Miller

Published 2002 by Stylus (US) & re-printed 2007 by Practical Action Publishers (Worldwide)

Designed for activists, practitioners and scholars, this field combines concepts and practical strategies for political education and empowerment, citizen mobilization and advocacy. A product of the authors' extensive organizing experiences, particularly with women, it deals with power, inclusion, respect for differences and identities, and the need to address underlying attitudes and values.

The Action Guide is, first and foremost, a method for analyzing power and figuring out for yourselves how to change its nature, distribution, and impact. It is unique because it doesn't treat advocacy as a technical fix, but a political process that occurs in concrete, specific contexts. The framework for analyzing power structures, opportunities and risks, is the most complex and nuanced that I have seen.

SRILATHA BATLIWALA, Hauser Center for Nonprofit Organizations, Harvard University

This new manual—at once analytically sophisticated but eminently practical—will help [people] find new approaches to a range of critical challenges ... including constituency building, power redistribution, and participatory learning...

THOMAS CAROTHERS, Vice President for Studies, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace

The Action Guide is an exciting and welcome route map for civil society activism and advocacy because it is not prescriptive. It presents a non-partisan political framework for citizen participation in governance and decisionmaking that examines power and change. The manual challenges dominant assumptions, defines key political concepts within value systems, sets out action strategies, and gives guidelines and a comprehensive toolkit for negotiation, advocacy and organizing ...

HOPE CHIGUDU, Chair, Global Fund for Women

This book is important [because] it does not offer a recipe nor a blueprint. Rather it offers a guide for exploration, adaptation and learning in a number of contexts. Unlike many guides, it is not written on the basis of abstract theory or 'drive-by' consultancies...it is based on critical reflection over several decades of experience by the authors in their collaborative work in actually doing popular education for democracy, human rights, and social justice in many continents of the globe.

JOHN GAVENTA, Institute of Development Studies

To order in the USA, contact Stylus Publishing:

tel: 800.232.0223 fax: 703.661.1501 StylusMail@PressWarehouse.com

To order elsewhere, contact Practical Action Publishing

tel: +44.01926.634501 fax: +44.01926 634502 www.practicalactionpublishing.org